HONGKONG, JANUARY 6TH. 1882. Fassi stories of the ill treatment of Chinese coolies in Paru have been circulated by the New York Herald. According to a correapondent of that paper, the Chinese in Peru are now grievously, oppressed and wantonly beaten and punished for any shortcoming in their work or attempt to escape from the plantations. We had cortainly thought and hoped that the ill usage of the Chinese lahourers in Peru was a thing of the past. Peruvians have given the most positive assurances to this effect, have strenuously denied the truth of many statements of the kind, and have asserted that the wildest exaggeration pervaded the re- that country. ports sent from Lima, which were further, they insisted, made by interested parties. RETURN OF LOWELL, LONDON. December 2nd. Lowell reached Paris on Monday, returning from Rome. His health is hardly restored. Ho was presented to-day to President Grevy, by Morton, and will arrive in London on Tuesday, when he resumes charge of the Legation, which he left with Hopkins, the Secretary, two months ago. The reported resolve of President Arthur to retain Lowell as Minister profoundly gratifies the English and Americans alike The French story of Morton going to spend the winter in Cannes, on account of his wife's health, is wholly groundless. Morton remains in Paris, and has arranged a meeting of Gambetta and Lowell, at lunch, Monday, NEW YORK, December 5th,

GERMAN EMIGRATION. BERLIN, December 4th. The cause of the debate on the Emigration question in the Reichstag yesterday was an item in the House estimates of eighteen thousand marks, which was ultimately passed, for the supervision of emigration. Baron Von Botisher, Secretary of State, in reply to a Deputy who lamented that the emigration statistics for the present year have already reached the papercedented number of 200,000, incidentally stated that the Government hoped to introduce the promised bill on the subject early in the spring. A hiberal Deputy, who said that he had lived a long time in the United States, declared that the Germans were attracted thither by the certainty of finding everything which they had vainly asked from their Government at home.

TINGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY, WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

For comprehensiveness and practical service

this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have to late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are THE 3.3. A L.L. American Ship here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given. the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness inct previously attained, and dispensing with those wast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characberized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the L Company's Steamer following facts are submitted for consideration : Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 due here per 19th January, 1882, will have quick Chinese characters, and Medharst's English despatch as above. and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other slementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applientions and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. parties resident in England and interested in Chins it cannot but be invaluable occasion.

Many boxes of letters are received at the Post Office not realed, that is to say, the box is fastened with sealing wax, but there is no impression of a seal. The attention of boxholders is called to the necessity of carefully sealing such boxes with some recognisable seal, and of sending a chitbook or receipt with them. The omission of the latter precaution leaves a doubt as to whether the contents of the box ever reached the Post Office: the omission of the former, as to whether part of them might not have been abstracted for the sake of the Postage Stamps.

THE SITE OF PARADISE. Prof Delitzsch has published at Leipzh the work on the site of Paradise on which he has been engaged for several years. He shows the inaufliciency of the theories which have placed the Garden of Eden in the Hindu-Kush, Armenia, and makes it clear that we must look for it only in Babylonia. Rejecting Sir Henry Rawlinson's notion, which it was assigned to the neighbourhood of Eridu, on the shores of the Persian Gulf, he identifies it with Kar-Duniyas, that portion of Accad which lay between Bagdad and Babylon, The Pison and Gibon he finds is the Pallakopas and Shatt en-Nil canals, which are believed to have been originally river-beds before they were converted to the Q U N F L R E O F F I C E. service of Babylonian irrigation; thus Dr. Delitzech explains the expression of Genesia which makes the river of Paradiso divide into four heads after leaving the Garden. Pison he proves to be an Accadian word for canal. An English translation of Dr. Delitzsch's book is being prepared for the press, though we regret to hear that it will not include the elaborate and valuable notes contained in the original, - Literary Notes in Daily Mail.

THE MODERN BISHOP. "Times is changed, indeed," said an old parish clerk in Yorkshire lately, anent a recent visit of the archbishop, "Why, I mind Goods stored therein. the day when the archbishop never came to a confirmation but with his coach and four, and each horse a pictur." For the venerable amen-sayer's recollection went back to that "Right Henourable and Most Reverend Fa- FITHE Undersigned have been appointed ther, in God, Edward Venables Vernon-Harcourt," the last of the grandee aristocratic archbishops, who always, in coach and four, attended Doneaster races, and a very fine, gracious, generous old gentleman he was. "Now," continued the old clerk, "the present archbishop came along the other day afoot, and carrying a little black bag! Twas even so." Still the old man admitted that Dr. Thomson -who, instend of being the son of Lord Vernon, is the son of Mr. Thomson, draper, of Whitehaven, a "one horse" town in Cumberland-is a very fine and effective AGENTS to the above Company at this Port and personage. IMITATION FLOWERS MADE WITH LIQUID FILMS. A pretty experiment has been recently FIRE at the following Rates:- . described by the well-known Belgian phy- On First-class European siciet, M. Plateau. He bends fine iron wire Tenements squas to present the contour of a flower of On First class Godowns, six petals. The central ring to which the petals are attached is supported on a forking stem, which is stuck in a piece of wood. After oxidizing the wire slightly with weak nitric acid, the flower is dipped in glyceric liquid, so as to receive films in the petals and the central part. It is then furned up, placed on a table near a window, and covered with a bell jar. For a little at first it appears colourless, but soon a striking play of colours comme: es. In the experiment M. Plateau describes the flower continued showing modifications of colour for ten hours, when dusk stopped observation. Next morning several petals had burst. The figuid used was of very mediocre quality. M. Plateau recommends preparation of the liquid thus:-Dispolve a fresh piece of Marseilles scap, cut up into small pieces, in 40 parts by weight of hot distilled water. DIAMONDS. The most valuable diamonds are those which are entirely colourless. Those with a blue tinge, though still more rare, are not so highly valued, as the actual beauty of the pure ones outweighs the parity of the blue variety. One of the finest of the blue variety is, we belive, in the collection of Mr. Beresford-Hope. Diamonds of a red-tinge take still a good place; green diamonds are tolerably numerous, and rank lowed; yellow ones are very common, and the least esteemed. The estimation of the value of a diamond is made according to aregular system of appraisement. It will surprise many who are not conversant with the subject to learn what a large propertion of a diamond is often ground away to dust in cutting it so as to make the most of its brilliancy. The greatest diamond in the French Treasury, the Regent, weighed, we are told, 416 carate before cutting, and 1361 surances at Carrent Rates. after cutting, which seems an immense loss | Shareholders are reminded that the Directors moize; but we presume it really increased the have the power of distributing a certain propormarketable value of the gem. Of course, the tion of the ascertained profits annually among diamond dust taken off in cutting is not such Shareholders as have contributed business allowed to be lost, but it is used chiefly for to the Company. practical purposes, in forming in its turn the means of grinding down the faces of other diamonds; for this superb stone will yield to no tool but one from its own substance.-
